

GALA WEEK HIGH SCHOOL

Class Of '13 Graduates And Event
Is Handsomely Celebrated

BACCALAUREATE SERMON
AND CLASS ADDRESS BY NOTED SPEAKERS

SOCIAL FEATURES ENLIVEN
THE WEEK IN EARLINGTON

This has veritably been Gala Week for the Earlington Graded and High School, especially the High School, for there has been graduated from that institution the Class of '13, the first class to finish the entire four years course in that school. And this is for the reason that only three years of the High School work have been taught before this season. The graduates are, Misses Cornelia Fenwick, Agnes Lynn, Margaret Kemp and Mr. Kress Sisk.

The first function of the week was the baccalaureate sermon delivered Sunday evening at the M. E. Church, South, by Dr. S. M. Miller, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church, Louisville. The graduates, faculty, members of the Board of Education and the parents of the graduates occupied seats of honor. Music was rendered by a choir made up of singers from all the churches, assisted by an orchestra composed of Messrs. Ellsworth Evans, Charles Webb, L. C. Wiley and Mrs. W. E. Martin. Dr. Miller's splendid address was received with marked attention by the large congregation that occupied every possible seat in the church.

Monday evening at Temple Theater an interesting program was rendered, consisting of school and home talent concert numbers and the High School play, "The Legend of the Briar Rose." The theater was filled and the people were appreciative and enthusiastic, giving numerous encores, which were responded to graciously. Prof. Loving rendered a selection on the piano and several of his pupils played solos and duets, one of the features of that part of the program being a duet by little Misses Bertha Vaught and Elizabeth Rash. The play was quite creditably given, though numerous and serious difficulties had been encountered in its preparation, with illnesses of members of the cast and other obstacles.

The First Commencement exercises of the Earlington High School were held at Temple Theater, Tuesday evening May 27th. The house was beautifully decorated with class colors and plants and cut flowers. Before the High School exercises came the presentation of certificates of promotion of Eighth Grade pupils to High School, the presentation being made by Prof. O. E. Dudley, Superintendent of the school. When the curtain arose for the graduating exercises there were seated, in the order named, on the stage, the Board of Education, Messrs. Paul M. Moore, E. L. Wise, Ernest Fewton, W. Ernest Rash and Dr. A. O. Sisk; the graduating Class of '13, Misses Cornelia Fenwick, Agnes Lynn, Margaret Kemp, and Mr. Kress Sisk; the faculty, Prof. O. E. Dudley, Superintendent, Misses Katherine Howard, Geneva Huffaker, Lelia Wilson, Camille Luckey, Ruby Sisk, Elizabeth Kemp, Gene Armstrong, Hazel Fawcett and Mary Mithershead.

Dr. R. H. Crossfield, President of Transylvania University, Lexington, Ky., who delivered the class address, and R. v. Howard J. Brazleton, who delivered the invocation, occupied central positions.

Messrs. Ellsworth Evans, L. C. Wiley, and Miller Evans composed the orchestra, with cornet, clarinet and piano, enlivened the program with beautiful selections delightfully rendered.

The program in full was as follows:

Program
Music, "Dutch Kiddle." Orchestra
Presentation of Certificates of Promotion of 8th grade to High school
Invocation
Music, The Palms, Faure. Orchestra
Oration, Patriotism. Mr. Kress Sisk
Essay, Development of Literature Miss Agnes Lynn
Vocal Solo, A Winter Lullaby, De Koven. Miss Cornelia Fenwick
Accompanied by Miss Luckey
Class Will. Miss Margaret Kemp
Music, Angela Serenade. Orchestra
Class Address. Dr. R. H. Crossfield, of Lexington, Ky.
Presentation of Diplomas. Prof. O. E. Dudley
Music, Lullaby Watch. Orchestra
Benediction.

The first speaker, Mr. Kress Sisk, handled his subject "Patriotism" in a pleasing way, showing much thought in preparation. Miss Agnes Lynn read her paper on "Development of Literature" in a sweet, girlish manner. Miss Cornelia Fenwick sweetly sang, "Winter Lullaby."

The Class History, Will and Prophecy was given last, by Miss Margaret Kemp in a distinct, attractive manner, her original sayings and amusing hits bringing much applause.

The flower girls, Little Miss Elinor Arnold and Sarah Beth Mithershead bestowed many bouquets and other gifts on the graduates.

The address by Dr. Crossfield was delivered in a happy vein, strong in argument and vigorous in its application, enlivened with anecdote and ornamented with bursts of oratory. He commanded the interest and close attention of an audience that filled the theatre to the roof.

After presentation of diplomas Paul M. Moore, on behalf of the Board, spoke briefly as to the school and its work and the promise of the future, and closed by presenting to each graduate, in the name of the Earlington Board of Education, a handsomely bound volume of choice literature, appropriately inscribed and bearing the autograph signatures of the members of the Board.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Brazleton.

Disputed Door.

A curious suit is reported from Avignon, France. It is brought by an antiquary to obtain possession of the door of the city of Alan, which he had bought. Possession was refused on a prior contract with another party, but this contention was discovered. At this stage it was discovered that an old agreement existed prohibiting the demolition of any part of the property. This agreement is now being contested, and it is anticipated that the sale to the antiquary will be confirmed.

Asbestos.

Asbestos is a mineral of a fine fibrous character, the fibers being easily separated, elastic, flexible, and of a whitish-gray color. It is composed chiefly of silica, lime, magnesia, and oxide of iron. The ancients converted it into a kind of cloth, in which they wrapped the bodies of their dead, while preparing them for the funeral pile; the cloth being indestructible by fire, enabled them to preserve the ashes. Asbestos is found more abundantly in Corsica than in any other locality.

How to Remove Mildew.

To remove mildew from linen take some yellow soap and rub it well into the linen, then scrape some chalk very fine and rub that in also. Lay the linen on the grass and as it dries wet it again and again until the mildew disappears. Another way is to mix soft soap and powdered starch with half the quantity of salt and the juice of a lemon. Apply the mixture with a brush and lay the linen out on the grass for a few frosty nights until the stain disappears.

Stevenson's Criticism.

Robert Louis Stevenson once went to hear Charles Halle play the piano at the Queen's hall. After the performance Stevenson, in his black shirt, walked in silence out Regent street to Oxford circus and, in a slow, meditative voice, pronounced this excellent criticism on the English musician he had heard: "The manner of the elderly statesman at the piano was somewhat austere and chilling."

The Episcopal of Madisonville are to have a new church very soon. Enough money has been subscribed to make the building of it an assured fact and the work will commence in a short time. A lady of the denomination in Louisville gave to Rev. G. C. Abbott, while he was there last week, $500.00. That with what he had on hand makes it so he can commence on it at once.

VETERANS TO MEET ON BATTLEFIELD

Big Reunion of Survivors of Civil War at Gettysburg on July 1.

40,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND

Man Who Wore the Blue and Gray to Again Gather on Ground Made Memorable by Historic Conflict.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

WASHINGTON. — During the first four days of July the battlefield of Gettysburg, Pa., will again be the scene of a meeting of the Blue and the Gray, but this time they will meet in amity and affection. A half-century will have passed since last these men of two great American armies met on this northern field. Then they were face to face in deadly conflict, for the issue. It was well understood to both contending forces, was the success of the southern cause, or the beginning of its defeat, to be followed by the restoration of the Union as it had been before the first shot was fired at Fort Sumter.

The United States government and the government of nearly every state in the Union have combined to make the Gettysburg reunion of the soldiers of the north and south one of the great peace events of the century. The state of Pennsylvania some time ago appointed a "Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg commission" to make preparations for the four days' reunion, at which Pennsylvania as a state was to act as host to the veterans of the war between the states and to the thousands of visitors who would follow their march to the field of battle, and appropriate $150,000 for the purpose of entertaining the veterans.

40,000 Veterans Expected.
It is expected that 40,000 veterans of the war, not all of them, however, survivors of the Gettysburg battle, will be found encamped upon the field when reveille sounds on the morning of July 1. It will be a different revelle than that which the tide and drum corps of the two great armies sounded fifty years ago. The call to awakening will be a call to a peaceful celebration while the call, to the awakening in July, 1863, was a call of arms to conflict and, to thousands of men, a call to death.

For years the veterans have been looking forward to this reunion. It is probable that there will be present many thousands of survivors of the battle. The United States government under an act of congress has appropriated money for the preparation of the camps and for the messing of the soldier visitors. The average age of the men engaged in the Civil war was only eighteen years, but fifty years have passed since these soldier boys fought at Gettysburg, and so if the computation of age was a true one the average years of the veterans who will meet in Pennsylvania in July will be about sixty-eight years. Many of them, of course, will be much older and a good many of them, men who entered at ages ranging from fourteen to seventeen years, will be younger, but all will be old men as the world views age.

Many of the states of the Union, north as well as south, have made appropriations to send their veterans to the Gettysburg reunion and to pay all other expenses. The battle of Gettysburg is recognized as the turning point of the war between the states. It has been called time and again one of the decisive battles of the world. Generally it is recognized that Gettysburg decided the great conflict, helped in the decision probably by the fall of Vicksburg on the Mississippi, which took place virtually, at the moment that the conflict on the Pennsylvania field was decided in favor of the northern army.

The preparations which the government is making to care for the veterans at Gettysburg are interesting. They have been under the charge of James B. Aleshire, quartermaster general of the United States army, and Henry G. Sharpe, commissary general of the United States army. Two years ago last March 14,000 regular troops were gathered in camp at Texas. The health of the soldiers throughout the Texas encampment was almost perfect, made so by the plans which had been carefully laid to see that perfect sanitation was maintained. The United States army was taught a lesson by the Spanish war, when lack of proper sanitary precautions and unpreparedness in other ways cost the government the lives of more men than were sacrificed to the bullets of the Spaniard.

The estimates of the commissary and quartermaster authorities are based upon an attendance of 40,000 veterans. It probably will cost the government about $360,000 to act in part as host to the survivors of the battle and other veterans who attend the Gettysburg reunion.

Big Task to Feed Men.
The survivors of the war from the north and south who will be present, being old men, must be cared for in a way which would not have been necessary fifty years ago. The messing of the veterans will require 400 army ranges, 1 great field bakery, 40,000 mess kits, 800 cooks, 800 kitchen helpers and 130 bakers. This helping personnel will be required to be in camp for at least seven days, and many of them for a longer period, for the purpose of installing the field bakery, the field ranges and in dismantling, cleaning, packing and storing material after the encampment is over.

The old soldiers are to be supplied with fresh meat directly from refrigerator cars drawn upon the field. They will be given fresh vegetables and special bread with the heat coffee and tea which the market affords. For them it will not be a case of hardtack, bootleg and poor bacon.

The Battle of Gettysburg commission of the state of Pennsylvania has a large sum of money at its disposal for the entertainment of the visiting veterans, and the thousands of persons who will accompany them. Hospitality is to mark the days. Fifty years ago Pennsylvania aided in the work of repelling the visitors from the south. In early July next the same state will have its arms wide open in welcome to the men wearing the gray. Entertainments of various kinds will be offered the visiting veterans, but it is pretty well understood that their deep interest in revisiting the scenes where they fought, Little Round Top, Oak Ridge, Cemetery Hill, Culp's Hill, Rock Creek, the Stone Wall and other places will hold them largely to the pleasures and to the sadnesses of personal reminiscences. Arm in arm with the Union soldiers the Confederate soldiers will retrace the battlefield. They will look over the field of Pickett's desperate charge. They will retrace the marching steps of Longstreet's corps. They will go to the place where Meade had his headquarters and to the place from which Lee directed his southern forces in battle.

Pennsylvania is going to make a great celebration of peace of this fiftieth anniversary of what probably was the decisive battle of the war, although it was fought nearly two years before the war ended. Other states will help Pennsylvania in its work, and from every section of the country, north, east, south and west, the veterans will assemble, most of them probably to see for the last time in life the field upon which they were willing to die for the sake of their respective causes.

The veterans will not be directly encamped in the Gettysburg park, which is dotted with monuments to the various commands which took part in the fight and which is laid out in approved park fashion, with fine drives and beautifully kept lawns. There will be two camps, known as No. 1 and No. 2. No. 1 will cover 149 acres and No. 2 will cover 44 acres. The layouts of these camps are based on the use of conical tents, each of which will, without crowding, accommodate eight persons. Inasmuch as accommodations are to be furnished for 40,000 visitors 5,000 tents will be required to give quarters to the visiting hosts.

Visitors to Be Cared For.
Every possible care is to be taken of the visitors. The sanitary arrangements which have been made are said to be the best that are possible and they are the result of careful study by medical officers of the service. All the experience of the past has been drawn upon to make it certain that the health of the veterans will be conserved while they are in camp.

With so many thousands of old soldiers in attendance, and taking into consideration the probability that the weather will be warm, it is expected that there will be sickness, but the United States government and the state of Pennsylvania are preparing for a hospital service which shall be adequate to any contingency. There will be hospital corps detachments present ready to render first aid to the injured, and there will be many field hospitals with surgeons in attendance, where the sick can receive instant attendance.

It is said that this contemplated reunion has induced more interest among the old soldiers of the north and the south than any event which has happened since the day that the war closed. There is today at Gettysburg a great national park, in which is included a cemetery where thousands of soldier dead are buried. The United States government and the legislature of Pennsylvania worked together to make a park of the battlefield and to mark accurately every point in it which has historic interest. When one goes to the field he can tell just where this brigade or that brigade was engaged, just where this charge or that charge was made and just where the desperate defenses of positions were maintained until the tide of battle brought either victory or defeat to one of the immediate commands engaged.

It was in 1895 that congress established a national park at Gettysburg and gave the secretary of war authority to name a commission "to superintend the opening of additional roads, mark the boundaries, ascertain and definitely mark the lines of battle of troops engaged, to acquire lands which were occupied by infantry, cavalry and artillery, and such other adjacent lands as the secretary of war may deem necessary to preserve the important topographical features of the battlefield."

When the Union and the Confederate veterans reach Gettysburg on June 30 next they will find on the scene of the old conflict between five and six hundred memorials raised in commemoration of the deeds of their commands on the great fields of the Pennsylvania battlefield. There are, moreover, 1,000 markers placed to designate historic spots. There are great towers built upon the field by the government so that bird's-eye views can be obtained of the entire scene of the battle. Fine roads have been constructed and everywhere attention has been paid to every detail of the least importance in setting forth the history of one of the greatest battles ever known to warfare.
